Mr. Swope Has a Plan Must We Have a Fight? Cutting Down Space An Old Marriage Custom

Mr. Gerard Swope, president of General Electric, plans for future unemployment crises.

In every General Electric works, on a scale of 90 per cent of the employees, a trust fund will be set up to meet abnormal conditions of unemployment.

Workers will contribute 1 per cent of their earnings, the company contributing an equal amount. The company guarantees 5 per cent on the funds accumulated, until such time as unemployment shall make it desirable to utilize the fund for the benefit of idle employees.

The employees will contribute half the company half, the workers will get, all the company none—a fair arrangement.

An English newspaper suggests that Europe should unite against us in an economic boycott, as European countries united against Germany in 1924.

It would be too bad to have an industrial, economic fight. But fortunately we are ready for it, if it must come.

The $10,000,000,000 that we sent to our dear friends in Europe last time would be spent on our own fight this time, and $10,000,000,000 more if necessary.

Three American workmen can produce as much steel as ten British workmen.

Ten American automobile mechanics can produce as many automobiles as 100 French, German or British mechanics.

We are meek and peaceful, but if they want a fight they probably can get it.

Mr. Einstein says space is the important thing. He may be right, but the genius of man is making space less important every day.

At a world power conference in Berlin recently, high-powered scientists discussed the latest possibilities of applying electric and other power.

At the same time the United States National Electric Light Association was meeting in San Francisco.

Scientists, using the world-wide radio system provided by E. H. Aylesworth, head of the American National Broadcasting system, talked and listened to each other as though they were in one room, instead of being thousands of miles apart.

A solemn German professor, deep in Mohammedan and Jewish marriage lore, says that marriage is very old.

Mohammed borrowed the idea from the heathen Arabs.

The Talmud tells of Rab, "one of the great early scholars, announcing publicly that he sought a wife for the duration of his stay every time he journeyed to Darschuld."

Persian princes on their travels entered into marriages for a single night, according to the Palestinian Talmud, said, three hundred years before Christ.

"When a man says to a woman, I marry you for thirty days, then she is married to him for thirty days."

You may go a million years farther back than Jobian among the monkey tribes or visit the geological garden today, and you will find the same idea highly developed. It is not what we "used to do," but what we ought to do.

The British are slow, but get things done. In Palestine, one day recently, they hanged three Arabs for rioting.

Against. News spreads slowly in Palestine; no telegrams or radios in their dwellings among the Arabs.

There may be trouble when it becomes generally known that three have been hanged, and funerals celebrated with "victorious mourning."

It is important to have other men or railroads working for you.

The New York Central railroad pays $30,000,000 a year—equal to 95.50 per cent of stock in the "Big Four" railroad.

The "Big Four" now raises its yearly dividend to $10 a share, and will pay the New York Central $200,000,000 a year.

Even in these fearful times there are pleasant spots.

Revolution, starting in southern Bolivia, is important because the revolutionary force is said to be composed of "Indians and Communists."

Communism, superstition, like religious superstition, grafted upon ignorant Indian minds, may lead to serious trouble.

Lord George tells MacDonald, prime minister, that he will co-operate with the labor party in legislation to solve the unemployment problem.

It will be interesting to see what MacDonald will do as Lord George says he will control the law of supply and demand, which seems to rule us all.

Hundreds of thousands of unemployed are being supplied with goods that the hundreds of thousands could produce. Raw materials are unlimited. Yet the unemployed cannot be brought in contact with the raw materials and the public need supplied.

Mysterious finance seems to control, and those that control finance understand it as little as the matter understood his Frankenstein monster.

BEAUTY CONTEST STARTS JULY 1ST

Voting starts next Tuesday in Fred-erie, Grayling, Lovells, Roscommon and Lewiston. Ballots this year will be handled by merchants and the Avalanche. Ballots good for ten votes will be given out when requested with every 25c purchase. A $1.00 purchase entitles one to four ballots or 40 votes.

The standings of the contestants will be published in our issues of July 3, 10 and 17. The voting will end Saturday evening, July 13th. The young ladies having the most votes will become contestants for final honors—and on July 22nd will be crowned.

Impartial judges will come to Grayling to select one of the five represent Grayling at the Bay City Water Carnival. Ballots will be available in Grayling at both drug stores and at the Grayling Mercantile Co. stores. Other stores wishing ballots will be gladly supplied upon request. A small charge is made for the ballots to defray the cost of printing.

Similar arrangements will be carried out in each of the said five towns—Frederic, Lovells, Roscommon, Lewiston and Grayling. Each town will send the five girls having the largest number of votes to Grayling on July 22nd, when one girl from each town will be selected to go to Bay City where she will compete for the prize of being "Miss Eastern Michigan," and where she will be entertained in a royal manner for several days, all expenses being paid.

Watch the Avalanche for more particulars regarding the contest as it progresses. We understand that the district committee is planning a good time for the young ladies who come to Grayling the 22nd. It will be gratifying to the parents to know that while these young ladies are in Grayling that they will be properly chaperoned and looked after.

Let the voting begin promptly on July 1st and continue briskly right up to the closing hour.

As the day approaches for the beginning of the Grayling district contests to choose queens to represent Grayling, Roscommon, Lovells, Lewiston, Frederic in the Eastern Michigan Water Carnival at Bay City, July 31, Aug. 1 and 2, General Chairman Otto B. Sovereign issued a word of good cheer to the prospective candidates.

More than pleased with the contest, he said, "I expect that interest in the queen contest will be high. When the girls who are going to enter hear about the very pleasant time they will have at Bay City during the Carnival I am sure they will strive to place among the first five in their respective town, to assure themselves of the chance to attend the Grayling district contest, where one will be picked from each town."

Mr. Sovereign pointed out that under the present scheme, the fifth girl in each town's voting lists has just as good a chance to win as the first girl—her town as the first and thereby becomes eligible for the final contest of the Carnival and the trip to Florida which comes to Miss Eastern Michigan, winner at Bay City.

Voting will start in Grayling district July 1. Merchants in Grayling will distribute ballots with purchases, as will merchants in Roscommon, Frederic, Lovells, and Lewiston. These votes will be totaled at regular periods, results reported.

The voting will continue till July 13, when on July 22 at Grayling one girl will be selected from each group of five to make the trip to the Carnival.

When Did It Ever End?

SHOW HOW FORD CARS ARE MADE

Residents of Grayling will have an opportunity not only to see the complete line of Ford cars, but to learn how they are made, Geo. Burke, local Ford dealer announced today.

The cars, a sound motion picture of the Ford plants, and a number of special displays showing how parts of the automobile are manufactured in mass production will be included in a Ford show which will be held in Travers City from June 30 through July 3. The show will be in the tent, 135 West Front street, and will be open to the public from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m.

This will be an unusual display, Mr. Burke said, in that it will include in one place and at one time all the Ford body types in their new lines and color combinations. Two of the cars, the de luxe sedan and the de luxe coupe, were introduced only this spring.

A feature of the show will be a Ford body practically cut in half to reveal its construction. This will be mounted on a chassis, portions of which will be cut away to disclose working parts.

In addition to the passenger cars and the moving picture, the show will include Ford trucks, cut-away trucks and chassis and a number of displays of automobile parts, among them one of rustless steel of which exposed metal parts of the Ford are made.

GRAYLING—BAND ATTENDS MIO BAND PICNIC

With most of the bands of northern Michigan present in Mio last Sunday that city was the busy festival center. Six bands representing as many cities played concerts much to the pleasure of thousands of people who had gathered there for the occasion.

Grayling band was the first on the concert program, and they played three selections. While our band hasn't been organized more than a few months, some of the veteran bandmen expressed their amazement as to the progress they had made.

There were 24 in the band, under the leadership of Prof. Ed. Clark.

Other cities represented were Alpena, Rogers City, Cheboygan, West Branch and Mio. After each band had presented its program, all musicians were assembled en masse—a band of about 150 pieces, under one director, and rendered several selections.

The next band picnic will be held in Rogers City.

YOUNG COUPLE MARRIED

At eight o'clock, June 21st, Justice J. W. Payne read the ceremony uniting in marriage Miss Viola Kennedy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Kennedy, and Don Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Reynolds, both of Grayling.

The bride was attractive in a gown of flowered chiffon made on simple lines, the skirt being very full. Miss Clara Bugby attended the bride and Harold Schmidt assisted the groom as best man. The bridesmaid was groomed in green crepe.

Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds left immediately after their marriage. They plan to make their home with the bride's parents for the summer.

Mr. Reynolds is well known in Grayling, having graduated from Grayling High School in 1925. Since that year he has been employed in the office of the Michigan Public Service Company in Grayling and recently received a fine promotion as manager of the Grayling office. He was a member in the orchestra known as "Al's Synchro" playing traps and drums and will continue his orchestra work this summer. The bride is one of Grayling's popular young ladies and is employed in the Egon-Johnson store.

Both have the best wishes and congratulations of many friends.

ALEXANDER O'CALLAGHAN

Announcements are out announcing the marriage of Mr. James Frederick Alexander and Miss M. Beatrice O'Callaghan, which took place on Thursday, March 28th, 1929, at Waukegan, Ill. They will be at home to their friends in Grayling after July 15th.

Fred as the home people well know, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. I. Alexander and is associated with his father in the insurance business. Mrs. Alexander was at one time a teacher in Grayling school. For about 20 years past she has occupied a similar position in the schools of Grand Rapids, continuing her teaching until school year. They will occupy the house known as the Goff house on Ogema street, which Fred purchased last spring. The place has been redecorated and repainted throughout, new furniture and new plumbing added, and now, with its new furnishings, it is a most comfortable and pleasant home, and we are sure they are going to be very happy in it. They have our best wishes.

HEALTH CLINIC FOR PRE-SCHOOL CHILDREN

A children's health clinic will be held at the school next Monday, June 30, conducted by Dr. K. B. Howard, director of the Consolidated Health Department, and assisted by Mrs. Wheeler, the county nurse.

The entire day from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. will be given to health work and immunization if the mothers so desire.

This includes pre-school children and any others who have not had an opportunity to be vaccinated or receive toxin-anti-toxin. The clinic is the ideal time to protect your child against the dreaded diseases of smallpox and diphtheria.

This Health Day will be sponsored by the Woman's club and members will be present to assist with the children.

A similar clinic will be held at the Frederic School building on Wednesday, July 2nd at the same hours. All children will be examined, weighed and measured and like the clinic at Grayling, children will have an opportunity to be immunized against contagious diseases and parents will be advised as to the physical needs of their children. Dr. Howard and the County nurse urge you to bring your children to this clinic. Tea will be served in the afternoon. Come and spend a social hour with your neighbors and friends. A special invitation is extended to Lovells and Maple Forest districts by the Committee. Your child may need special attention. It costs nothing to find out.

ON VERGE OF BIG TOURIST SEASON

Michigan is on the verge of the greatest tourist season in history. Early season attendance at the state's parks indicate an unparalleled summer, in the opinion of P. J. Hoffmaster, superintendent of state parks.

Not only has the attendance been large but tourists and campers have started early, despite several weeks of inclement weather, Mr. Hoffmaster said.

The big flood of tourists to the state parks both from the state and other states begins after the school term is over. However, thousands have already been at the parks and the attendance is growing daily.

During the last week of May the Bay City Park reported 7,600 visitors. In the same period there were 8,000 at the Cedar Hills Park and 15,000 at the Island Lake Park. There were 1,000 people at the Baraga State Park in the upper peninsula June 1.

Other parks have reported similar record-breaking attendances.

Not only are the state parks rapidly increasing in popularity for those who visit for a day, but also for campers, Mr. Hoffmaster believes. Last year more than 40,000 camps were pitched in the various state parks for from one day to two week periods.

A few years ago only those who could not afford summer cottages camped at the parks. Today there are high priced automobiles and high priced camping equipment at the parks as well as the others, he stated.

Hospital Notes

Miss Elsie Burke, of the Nurse's Training School is spending a week's vacation in Detroit. She was accompanied to Detroit by Miss Lola Craven, who is also in training at the hospital. Miss Craven was taken seriously ill soon after her arrival in Detroit and it became necessary to call for her parents. A letter received from Miss Burke states her temperature is much lower and that she is improving slowly.

The latest type X-Ray machine will be installed at the hospital Monday. Mildred Corwin, Wilbur Stammier, of Frederic and Tony Gross, had tonsil operations at Mercy Hospital this week. All are getting along nicely.

The Grayling District and Nurse's Alumnae had their regular meeting at the cottage of Mrs. Markey at Lake Margrethe on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Markey is a graduate nurse of a Bay City Hospital. Following the meeting at which ten hospital luncheon was served. The two nurses of the 1930 graduating class, Misses Violet Williams and Elizabeth Deming, were initiated at this meeting. The ladies spent a very pleasant afternoon together.

George Alexander, was dismissed Tuesday from Mercy Hospital after an illness of several weeks. T. E. Douglas, who has been a patient at the hospital for several weeks, is considerably better.

Refusing To Be Standardized

This is an age of standardizing. We try to classify everything and everybody. We are in danger of having a cut-and-dried universe. And is there anything more monotonous to contemplate?

If there is anything that thrills the heart it is the fact that the Master of men could not be pigeon-holed or classified. He was different. He was unique because He was Himself.

He rings true in personality. And simply because men could not classify Him, they killed Him.

That has been happening through the years. The men who start out to be different encounter the standardizers of life. They tell them that they must conform or die. So they die. Well might we pray that we have the power, within to be "ourselves." God forbid that we be tied up with a string as a sample bundle of the same thing.

BASS FISHING OPENED YESTERDAY

Bass fishermen, the last to be permitted on Michigan's lakes, turned out en masse yesterday morning, armed with their tackle. The season opened nine days later than last year in the lower peninsula, and well too, according to the Fish Division of the Department of Conservation, which said that a retarded spring has caused late spawning in many places.

Changed size and creel limits caused the Division to issue a condensed list of limits for bass, bluegill, and sunfish anglers, effective now. The list follows.

Size limit: bluegills, and sunfish, 6 inches; Catfish, strawberry, white, Rock bass, and perch, 7 inches.

Warmouth bass, no limit.
Aggregate of 25 for all these species daily.

Black bass size limit, 10 inches. Five is the creel limit a day.

ENJOY CAMP AT ELECTRIC DAM

Mr. and Mrs. V. H. Smith and daughter Betty of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Derwehler and Mr. and Mrs. John Derwehler of Detroit, are camping on the Electric light pond and say they are having a real good time. Pike fishing has been good in the pond and, now that the bass fishing season is open, they expect a short drive to Lake Margrethe for bass fishing. Mr. Smith is on the staff of the Cleveland Plaindealer, and this is his second visit to Grayling.

TOO MANY COPS AND TRAFFIC
LIGHTS FOR MODERN PAUL REVERE

Motorist, Following Original Route,
Falls to Better Speed of 1775

If signal lights again should gleam forth from the tower of the Old North Church and a modern Paul Revere should dash away in a modern automobile to arouse the countryside, what sort of a trip would Paul have
and how long would it require?

You'd be surprised!
Back in 1775 the original Paul Revere rode a good horse over practically deserted country roads until he finally was caught by a patrol of British soldiers beyond Lexington about 17 miles from his starting point.

The same horseback ride was made by Sgt. Robert D. Rhodes, recently on the anniversary of the original event. Despite numerous stops to attend Paul Revere ceremonies at historic spots along the route, Sgt.
Rhodes reached the locality where Revere was captured in less than three hours. Furthermore, Sgt.
Rhodes had started from Boston instead of the spot on "the opposite shore" of the Charles River where the Revolutionary Paul first put spurs to his horse. Sgt. Rhodes believes that if no long stops had been made he could have completed the trip in something over an hour.

In order to settle the question of Colonial horse versus modern automobile, P. J. Malarney of Boston sallied forth the other day and followed the same route covered by Paul Revere. Instead of a horse, Malarney drove an Oakland Eight. Closely built up and carrying heavy traffic, the route quite evidently has been thoroughly "worked" by high-pressure
stop light salesmen.

Attempting to catch two green lights in succession, Malarney found himself at the curb discussing various matters with a state motorcycle policeman who had stopped him to inquire:

"Well, where's the fire?"

"I'm following Paul Revere," explained Malarney.

"Oh, yeah? Well he got quite a start on you. Besides that affair was all settled some time back. You better just take things easy. Or else."

With the policeman's final phrase
echoing ominously in his ears, Malarney observed a more literal interpretation of traffic signs, speed limits, etc., and finished the trip.

"It took him a trifle over an hour."

Don't leave any cereals in packages when shutting up the house for a vacation, however short. It is better to give away small remnants than to have to combat weevils on your return. Weevils getting into one kind of cereals may spread to your flour
or any other cereal foods not in tight glass or tin containers.

One thing we never could understand is how some of these fellows get a shortage of a million dollars.

TO CARRY COLUMN BY WILL ROGERS

The witty and humorous comment
of Will Rogers will each week appear in this newspaper.

Everyone knows
the famous cowboy comedian,
whether by his writings, on the stage, in the movies or on the radio. His followers are legion and his readers run
into millions.
Now you will have an opportunity to read his weekly
column of running fire sallies covering contemporary affairs, politics, personalities and news events.

Rogers knows most every person of importance, from the nobility to the man in the street. And he joshes them all in unaffected good humor. As a self-styled ambassador of the cause of the plain people, Rogers in his stories raises the question and gives it a slant few but the former cowpuncher could handle. He has become as internationally renowned as a comic relief as was formerly his skill as a horse show entertainer with his riding and roping.

Rogers takes pride in the fact he is a genuine American, as both of his parents have an admixture of Cherokee Indian blood in their veins. After many years of ranch life he went to New York where he made such a hit with his act it was but an easy step into vaudeville. Rogers' early randoville act was made up mostly of fancy roping, with a little bit of talk thrown in. Gradually he made more of his monologue, turning it into chatty comment on current affairs. Will Rogers now resides in Hollywood, with ample grounds, a large stable and a tanbark arena for riding practice.

Watch for the first installment next week.

elson.

ward to with interest.

FRAUDULENT STOCK BROKERS

A warning against fraudulent brokers and promoters who are offering stock in foreign Ford motor companies was issued today by the Better Business Bureau of Detroit, in conjunction with the National Better Business Bureau and affiliated offices throughout the United States and Canada.

Relying on the goodwill and integrity of the Ford name, thousands of persons throughout the country have purchased stocks which either turned out to be spurious or were not delivered at all, the warning said.
There is no way of estimating the financial loss involved.

"There are a number of fraudulent concerns in various parts of the country that represent themselves as brokerage houses and that offer stocks
in various foreign Ford companies,"
the statement from the Better Business Bureau said.

"Several of these companies sell on the partial payment plan. They offer stock for stipulated down payment and a fixed sum becomes due.
Before the final payment is made and before the stock is delivered to the purchaser, the company goes out of business and its officers disappear
only to begin operations at another location and under another name."

"Stocks of the Ford Motor Company
of England, Ltd., and the Ford Motor Company of France are listed on the New York Curb market and the prices
at which they are currently selling are printed in the financial pages of the newspapers. Nevertheless many persons are being led by unscrupulous brokers to pay far in excess of market prices."

"The majority of stock brokers, of course, are honest. Our warning is directed solely against the fraudulent concerns that carry on their fleecing
of the public under the guise of reputable concerns. Anyone contemplating the purchase of stocks should first consult his local bank or newspaper."

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Ambassador Morrow's Victory in New Jersey and What It May Mean.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

NEW JERSEY'S Republican primary was the most interesting event of the week, and its repeated shows will continue to be felt for many months. Dwight W. Morrow's victory in the contest for the senatorial nomination was more than decisive—it was overwhelming. The ambassador to Mexico had a plurality over Franklin Fort and Joseph S. Freylinghuysen of approximately 800,000. There was a fourth candidate for the short and long terms, as was Mr. Morrow—John A. Kelley—but his vote was negligible. Morrow's tremendous showing naturally stirred up immediate speculation as to whether he would be Mr. Hoover's rival for the Republican Presidential nomination in 1932, which has been previously suggested several weeks ago by Governor Stokes of New Jersey and President Hiram Bingham of Princeton. Some political observers thought this would be forced on him, while others were certain that he would support Hoover at that time and wait four years longer for his chance at the greater honor. Immediately after the result of the primary was known, President Hoover caused this official announcement to be issued: "The White House will give every possible support to the Republican nominee for the senate from New Jersey. The President and the administration have every confidence that Mr. Dwight Morrow will be the next senator from New Jersey."

Some Republican leaders interpreted the President's move as a cordial gesture, intended to cause Mr. Morrow to feel so friendly to Mr. Hoover that he will discourage the activity of admirers booming him for the Presidency. Senator Blaine of Wisconsin, however, voicing the views of the wet leaders, said "It indicates a cautious step in the direction of a liberal attitude on the Eighteenth amendment."

MORROW made his campaign as an advocate of repeal of the Eighteenth amendment and the return of liquor control to the individual states. Fort, who was so badly beaten, ran as a pronounced dry. But the wets, in their rejoicing, should take into consideration the facts that New Jersey is admittedly a warring wet state, and that Morrow probably would have been victorious even if he had not said a word on the liquor question. The Anti-Saloon league said the nomination of a wet in New Jersey was no more significant than the nomination in Maine. "The phenomenal interest in the nomination of one wet to replace another," said the league, "is probably on the theory that Mr. Morrow may become the national wet leader to restore the liquor traffic. If so, it is a vain wet hope, because Mr. Morrow has no plans to solve the liquor problem."

In this connection it is interesting to read that Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York will run for reelection on a wet platform and that the Democratic party's state liquor plank will be much stronger than a mere declaration for light wines and beer. Democrats of New Jersey nominated State Senator Alexander C. Simpson as Mr. Morrow's opponent and feel that he has some chance of success.

In Minnesota the senatorial fight among the Republicans was rather warm; but Thomas D. Schall, the blind senator, easily defeated Gov. Theodore Christianson and John F. Selb. Elmer Holmde was the unopposed Democratic nominee.

Maine Republicans nominated Congressman Wallace H. White, Jr., for senator, giving him about 9,000 more votes than former Gov. Ralph M. Brewster received.

Prohibition was not an important factor in either of these primaries.

PRESIDENT HOOVER signed the tariff bill on Tuesday, and the new duties went into effect at midnight. No pictures were made of the Chief Executive affixing his name to the act, and no cheers were heard anywhere over this culmination of many months of work by congress. The plain truth is that the tariff measure does not please anyone in or out of congress, and it is especially obnoxious to nearly all foreign nations. Maybe it was the best compromise that could be fixed up, and if there is a rebirth of prosperity in the United States during the next two years the Republican party may not suffer from the act. Of course the Democrats and the radical Republicans who opposed the measure think otherwise.

Senator Borah started out immediately to force the President to make use of the flexible tariff provision which Mr. Hoover had endorsed. He introduced a resolution, which was adopted by the senate, directing the tariff commission to investigate differences in cost of production and report at the earliest practicable date on shoes, furniture, cement, and a number of agricultural implements. To this list Senator Hiram Bingham (Conn.) by an amendment added bells, wire fences, and wire netting.

Protests of foreign nations against the new tariff continued to pour into Washington, coming last week from Germany, Czechs, Spaniards and Cubans. The French are very indignant over the American duties, but Ambassador Ridge issued a soothing communique stating that they would have no serious effect upon French exports to the United States.

question, but generally the victims were assured by their brokers that the tariff was to blame. Conchies and Wood of Indiana, chairman of the house appropriations committee, said the selling movement was staged by moneyed interests and importers who wished to make a political play against the tariff. He said he was making an investigation and expected to be able to prove what interests and what individuals promoted the downward manipulation.

ANY doubt that the senate foreign relations committee would report favorably on the London naval treaty was removed when that body, by a vote of 4 to 11 defeated Senator Hiram Johnson's motion that the committee withhold disposition of the treaty until the President should submit all the correspondence and other documents pertaining to the negotiations which the committee had requested and the President had refused to furnish. Johnson, Moses, Shipstead and Robinson of Indiana voted for the motion. Chairman Borah said he would report the treaty with the simple recommendation that it be ratified, without giving reasons therefor. It was understood Reed and Robinson of Arkansas, who were delegates to the London conference, would submit another report telling why the pact should be ratified. Senator Johnson made use of a motion picture radio hook-up to present to the country his reasons for opposing the treaty.

REAR ADMIRAL RICHARD E. Byrd came home last week to receive the plaudits of his fellow countrymen for his achievements in Antarctic exploration. The bark City of New York brought him to the pier, where the Eleanor Holmes, the other ship of his expedition, was waiting at quarantine, and the two vessels were escorted up the bay by innumerable craft and many airplanes. The welcome to New York was characteristic of that city—Grove Whelan and the mayor's committee, a marine band, a procession up Broadway with soldiers, sailors and marines, an address by Mayor Walker at the city hall and a presentation of medals. And all of it nearly smothered in ticker tape. With Admiral Byrd rode his wife, who had gone out in a tug to meet him. After the official duties, Chancellor Brown of New York University conferred an honorary degree on the explorer.

Next day Admiral Byrd journeyed to Washington to be the center of even more imposing ceremonies. President Hoover received the entire party at the White House, and then the trustees of the National Geographic society gave a luncheon. After an official call on the secretary of the navy there were ceremonies at Arlington National cemetery where Byrd placed wreaths on the grave of Admiral Peary, Admiral Wilkes and Floyd Bennett. In the evening at the Washington auditorium President Hoover planned on Byrd's breast the gold medal of the National Geographic society. In all these events the admiral was accompanied by the members of his Antarctic expedition and they were acclaimed almost as loudly as he was their chief.

FREDERIC M. SACKETT, American ambassador to Berlin, created something of a sensation in his own country by an address before the world power conference in which he attacked American power companies for their high charges to the consumer. He said "I know of no other manufacturing industry where the sale price of the product to the great mass of consumers is fifteen times the actual cost of production." Samuel Insull of Chicago, the utilities magnate, was in Berlin and having seen an advance copy of Mr. Sackett's speech, made objection to parts of it. This the ambassador disregarded entirely.

The incident was meant for Senator Norris of Nebraska, the ever alert critic of utility corporations, and he made a speech in the senate scoring Mr. Insull severely.

CHAIRMAN ALEXANDER LEGGE and Charles C. Fournier of the federal farm board, reappointed by the President, were confirmed by the senate without opposition. Samuel L. McKelvie, wheat member of the board, is expected to resign on or about July 1, although his term runs for another year. It was said to have been understood at the time of his appointment that he might choose to retire at the end of his first year.

OUTSTANDING among the deaths of the week is that of Dr. Elmer Ambrose Sperry of New York, inventor of the gyroscope and world-famed scientist. Although responsible for the development and perfection of many inventions, Doctor Sperry was best known for his gyroscope compass and the application of the gyroscope for the stabilization of steamships and airplanes. This device was perfected after many years of experiment.

CHINA'S internecine war is running true to form. According to the dispatches from the Orient, the Nationalists are winning one day and the northern alliance of rebels the next. Anyhow, they are doing a lot of fighting and the casualties are heavy. The rebels have seized the customs house at Tientsin and have appointed as customs commissioner, Lennor Simpson, an English writer better known by his pen-name of "Putnam-Went". The government at Nanking was trying to divert imports from Tientsin to ports under its control.

WITH Julia Manis again the premise, the government of Rumania under King Carol seems to be solidly established. Manis now says he and the regency knew in advance that Carol was to return and gave consent, and indeed he claims that the coup was engineered by him. The young king is planning his coronation in October and has sent invitations to all the crowned heads and presidents of Rumania's World war allies to attend the event.

Farm Notes

Lambs are usually most profitable if made ready for market when they are about 4 or 5 months old and weigh from 65 to 75 pounds.

Don't let livestock pasture alfalfa too closely, as the grazing down of the crowns often kills the plants. Of all livestock, hogs are least injurious to alfalfa.

In the work season the farm horse should eat only at regular intervals. He needs concentrates to supply the energy for hard work. Feed large amounts of roughages only in periods of rest. Excessive feeding of hay is wasteful; it is expensive, reduces the horse's efficiency, and may cause respiratory troubles.

Closely observation of the U. S. Weather Bureau reports helps in planning haying operations and lessens the chances of injury. Damage to hay resulting from poorly baled stacks, uncovered piles of bales, hauling and loading during storms, and baling rain-damp hay can be minimized by thoughtful and good management.

It is poor policy for farmers who market their alfalfa to put two or more cuttings in the same stack. Each cutting should be stacked separately in order to provide hay of uniform class and grade when baling it. If more than one cutting is put in a stack, differences in leafiness, color, grass mixtures, or stem texture may cause variations in grade.

With the rapid expansion of the soybean industry, poultrymen have available a new poultry feed that could well be used more than it is, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. In the Pacific Coast States poultrymen have used soybean meal for several years and consider it an excellent feed for flesh and egg production. A mineral mixture increases the value of soybean meal as a protein supplement.

Many farmers season lumber, and then leave it lying around unprotected until they are ready to use it. This is a mistake, says the U. S. Forest Service. No matter how carefully lumber has been seasoned, it will reabsorb moisture unless protected. Construction of farm buildings with lumber that is not dry enough results in cracks, loose-fitting doors, and a variety of other structural defects.

It is often difficult to cure sweetclover hay because of the heavy green stems. Many farmers get around this trouble by cutting the hay with a binder. They set up the bound bundles in long, narrow, open shocks like oat shocks and let them cure for several days. Sweetclover hay produced in this way is of good quality and the expense is little greater than for hay cooked by hand.

Ripe, dry grain is essential to the successful operation of the combine. Green or damp grain not only interferes with threshing and cleaning, but it also lowers the market value and the keeping quality of the grain. Do not start the combine until the grain is dead ripe. If the threshed grain feels damp or is easily dented with the finger nail, the moisture content is probably too high for safe storage.

These hot-weather suggestions for shipping hops are offered by the U. S. Bureau of Animal Industry. "Haul or drive your hops to the shipping point in time for them to get rested and cool before loading. Allow only a light grain feeding before shipping—heavy feed means more body heat generated. So that the car is clean, bedded with sand, and that the bedding and interior are wet down before loading, which should be done not more than an hour before hand. Avoid exciting, beating, or bruising the animals. In warm weather not more than 16,000 pounds of hops should be shipped in a standard 36-foot car. Have the cars immediately after the shipping point. If possible hang ice bags from the car roof."

Take Care of Raw Hides. Hides and skins—particularly cattle hides and calfskins—are among the highest-price-per-pound raw products of agriculture, yet many farmers and small butchers treat them with little regard to their potential value. Many farmers think that four or five in a cut-hide make no difference and that a half-rotted skin will produce first-quality leather. They do not realize that one cut, or a hole, or hair slip from poor curing, may render the whole hide unfit for tanning into some kinds of leather. Grubs, ticks, brands, mange, warts, sores, bruises, prod marks, nicks and manures, and scratches made by horns, wire, and carrycombs all lower the value of hides and skins.

Combines Increasingly Popular. The "combine" has come into such general use that last year more than one-third of the hard-winter wheat, one-fifth of the hard spring wheat, and a smaller part of the soft winter wheat were harvested by the harvest-thresher. Ripe, dry grain is one of the essentials for successful operation of the combine, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Green or damp grain not only interferes with the threshing and cleaning operations but lowers the quality of the grain. Sometimes the combine does a poor job of threshing and cleaning because the machine is not properly adjusted. A recent Farmers' Bulletin, 1608-F, describes the operation and care of the combine and contains a "trouble chart." It may be had by writing to the Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

SEES HEAVY CLAIMS ON FUTURE BANKERS

American Bankers Association Official Declares That Banking Changes Creating Large Bank Systems Will Call for Broader Social Viewpoints.

Larger scale group or branch banking will inevitably bring a new era of banking organization and operations to the United States and bankers will have to develop "new conceptions, new administrative methods and new social views," Rudolph S. Hecht, Chairman of the American Bankers Association, recently told the members of the American Institute of Banking.

The Institute is the educational section of the association and he emphasized the point that the new era in banking demanded "that we must step up our education so that banking shall be fortified for new responsibilities."

What the Future Calls For. "We must broaden our social conception of banking," Mr. Hecht said. "Not only for the technical operations of the new banking must we fit ourselves, but both as individuals and an organized profession we must charge ourselves with serious consideration of the social problems that are involved. Already we hear murmurs and fears and doubts as to whether the changes that are coming about in banking in the extension of group and branch systems do not constitute the looming of a new financial menace, a monopolistic threat not only to the individual unit banker, but to the financial liberty of society in general. I am stating these things merely as facts that must be taken into consideration in our studies."

"Public opinion cannot be ignored by any business, least of all by banking, which is admittedly semi-public in character and is, therefore, subject to special supervision by the constituted authorities. If banking develops tendencies that give rise to public fears, we must so conduct ourselves as to reassure all doubts."

"For this is true—that business succeeds only by serving society—that no business can permanently prosper which does not both render service to the public and at the same time convince the public that it is rendering that service. Banking, therefore, must take cognizance of what the public is saying of this new era in its development."

"It must be part of the technique of modern banking administration, whatever form our enlarged institutions take, to avoid the creation of monopolies, or even the appearance of such a centralization of financial power as to be able to exercise an undue influence over public or private finance or other lines of business. The public's right to the safeguards of fair competition must be observed."

Must Preserve Individual Initiative. "It must also be an item of management that individual initiative and opportunity shall be maintained. If America has outstripped other nations in the distribution of the benefits of its progress, it is due to the fact that there are no barriers of social caste or business tradition against advancement for character, ability, and initiative. American business has learned that it serves itself best by encouraging by every practical means individual initiative and initiative, and it is most by representing or neglecting them. Competition for efficiency, both within an organization and between organizations, will prevent any institution from long enduring in which maintenance of opportunity and recognition of initiative are not controlling principles of management. As heads of the greatest of our financial and industrial institutions stand men who started from the humblest of beginnings. Through all the grades of executive authority and reward stand men in positions of keeping, generally speaking, with their individual merits. I personally see no reason for fearing that the enlarged banking organizations which will surely come, will necessarily suppress future bank employees with any less opportunity for achievement than unit banking."

Growth of Banking Education. DENVER, Colo.—At the American Institute of Banking convention held here last month the growth in the effort among bank employees to provide themselves with banking education was shown by the fact, as reported by one speaker, that 18 years ago the institute had 30 study chapters, today 208, and that its enrollment in the study courses had grown from 11,000 to 45,000, or an increase of over 300 per cent. The graduates number nearly 14,000. The institute is the educational section of the American Bankers Association, through which bank workers are given instruction in theoretical and practical subjects relating to their business.

Lawyer Pleads for Less Crime News. Columbia, Mo.—A plea that newspapers should publish less crime news, made before the School of Journalism by Franklin Miller, circuit attorney of St. Louis, is attracting wide attention. By giving space to the particulars and describing the tricks used by bandits and holdup men, the newspapers unwittingly conduct a school for crime, Mr. Miller contends.

SEADROMES SOON A POSSIBILITY

Navy Recruiting Station, Detroit: Following the survey last summer of a 1,200 square mile area between New York and Bermuda by the navy survey ship Hannibal, rapid progress has been made in the solution of adequate mooring and illumination of a proposed sea airport in the surveyed area. If the New York-Bermuda experiment is successful it is planned to build a series of floating airports between New York and Europe. Each seadrome, as planned, will be 75 feet above the ocean's surface, and will be equipped with hotel, machine shop and hangars for planes.

Wm. Auson of Bay City was arrested Monday on a charge of reckless driving, and pleaded guilty before Justice Peterson. He paid a fine of $25 and costs besides $50 for repairs for a car that he tried to pass on the curve at Love's corners. It doesn't seem possible that any driver who is in his right mind and sober would ever attempt to pass a car on that sharp turn. It is dangerous enough to meet a car there, much less try to pass one.

In writing up the affair of Barton
Wakeley who is serving sixty days
in jail for violation of the game law,
Justice Peterson said that Cassida was the justice in the case instead of H. Peterson. Some of the friends of Mr. Wakeley used their efforts to ward getting his sentence reduced that the justice nor the sheriff had any right to commute a sentence.

Michigan Central roundhouse in Niles where he has been employed. Among the others who are known here employed at the round house there were Cletus St. Pierre and Arnold Lauridson.

George Granger of Lansing spent the week end at his home in Grayling. He was accompanied to Grayling by his mother, Mrs. Celia Granger, who had been enjoying a visit with relatives in Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids and Grand Haven. George will be employed again for the summer surveying the various state parks. He will return again in the fall to M. S.
C. to complete his engineering course.

Misses Margrethe and Ella Hanson left last week for the Pacific coast
to be in attendance at the thirtieth biennial convention of their Sorority
—The Alpha Phi International Sorority. The convention will be held this week at Mount Baker lodge. The young ladies are delegates from the University of Michigan and without a doubt it will be a very interesting one. This Sorority is one of the oldest and one to which it is a great honor to belong.

"Our Gang" met at the home of Mrs. Dewey Palmer last Thursday afternoon with nineteen members and guests present. Two new members were taken into the club, Mrs. Setley Wakeley and Mrs. John Wakeley. The afternoon was spent playing games and Mrs. Frank Serven won the prize.
Mrs. Sidney Robarge won the Penny prize. Late in the afternoon the committee served a nice lunch after which everyone left for home. The next meeting of "Our Gang" will be held July 10, at Mrs. Percy Budd's.

Little Mary Esther Skingley, two years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Harold Skingley, evidently thought gasoline was made to drink or was curious to know what gasoline really tasted like. Monday evening, while playing in the yard, she discovered a pail of gasoline in which paint brushes were soaking. She drank a quantity and perhaps would have strangled had it not been for Holger Peterson who rushed her immediately to the hospital. The next day the child was feeling well enough to go home. When the children saw the paint on the front of Mary Esther's dress, they screamed that she had cut her throat and Mrs. Skingley and the close neighbors were hysterical until they had discovered what had really happened. This was indeed a narrow escape for this little girl and we are sure Mary Esther will not want to drink any more gasoline.
